Gabriela Sacha — a 5th year student of law at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków. Since the last academic year I have been attending seminars on intellectual property law. It is with the broadly understood intellectual property law that I associate my professional plans. This is the branch of law that interests me the most and inevitably concerns my personal fascination with fashion and design, which I have been actively developing for years. This development has resulted in real knowledge of the fashion industry, which I hope will be an asset in the future. I am the author of several publications on intellectual property law and a speaker at national conferences. In 2018, I was awarded a scholarship of the Minister of National Education for outstanding academic achievements and a scholarship of the Rector of the Jagiellonian University for the best students. I also undertook a further education course at the American Law School organized jointly by the Catholic University Columbus School of Law in Washington, D.C. and the Faculty of Law and Administration of the Jagiellonian University in Kraków.
