

Contents

Foreword	9
BARBARA ADAMIAK, Legal institutions which guarantee compliance with the law as an unavoidable element of administrative law	11
JOLANTA BLICHARZ, Human subjectivity and the mission of administration for the benefit of the common good (personal good) as values that cannot be ignored	21
ADAM BŁAŚ, Reducing public administration — contemporary arguments	33
MACIEJ BŁAŻEWSKI, Non-negligibility of public administration in providing public transport	39
DOMINIKA CENDROWICZ, On the significant role of the commune in the system of public tasks of administration of provision	49
AGNIESZKA CHRISIDU-BUDNIK, Exogenous and endogenous sources of asymmetric information in the public procurement market	59
JAROSŁAW DOBKOWSKI, Functional induction of Professor Jerzy Panejko as a method of comparative research on local government in Europe	71
ELŻBIETA FERET, Inaction of public authority bodies in the public finance concerning the disclosure of information in Poland	85
PIOTR JANIAK, Force majeure as a negative ground for liability for delicts liable to administrative monetary penalties	99
KAROL KICZKA, Unavoidability of the President of the Public Procurement Office in the system of awarding public contracts	113
TADEUSZ KOCOWSKI, WITOLD MAŁECKI, The necessity of state police supervision authorities in the economy	129
KATARZYNA KOKOCIŃSKA, The state of administration	147
JERZY KORCZAK, Dispersion of administration as a reason for non-negligibility of public administration	161
PIOTR LISOWSKI, Between the non-negligibility of public administration and de-administration	185
STANISŁAW NITECKI, Does public administration have to perform tasks in a matter of social care?	195
BOŻENA POPOWSKA, Unavoidability of standards of “good administration” in public economic law	211
RENATA RASZEWSKA-SKAŁECKA, Unavoidability of public administration in the scope of administrative establishment’s power — “removal from the list of students” on the basis of the case-law of administrative courts	227
JANUSZ SŁUGOCKI, Remarks on interwar legislation on the care of monuments, and contemporary model	245

KAZIMIERZ STRZYCZKOWSKI, On the privatization of forms of organization and operation as sources of diversity of public administration	261
JERZY SUPERNAT, Unavoidable public administration as the meeting place of public law and private law in the era of transformation of public law in Europe	273
MAGDALENA TABERNACKA, The matter of non-neglectability of public administration in the context of provisions that govern the naming and renaming of streets	285
LIDIA ZACHARKO, Public administration managed in a modern way — a few reflections	305
Review	321
Conference reports	331